SUMMARY

I am a fresh graduate in Informatics Engineering from Pasundan University with a profound passion for software engineering. My practical experience includes proficient use of PHP for Laravel implementation and expertise in JavaScript for both Frontend and Backend web development. In my most recent project, I actively participated in hands-on work with JavaScript. I am enthusiastic about applying my academic background and practical skills to real-world projects, staying current with industry trends and technologies to contribute effectively to the dynamic field of software engineering.
